How do we identify and assess a pupil's needs?

Some children arrive at our school with identified SEN, in which case the SENDCO will liaise with the previous setting to ensure there is a smooth transition.

If, during a child's time at our school, teachers or parents have concerns about pupil progress or attainment, a meeting will be held to discuss these concerns and the school's graduated approach will be initiated, beginning with a period of monitoring and review, including an analysis of the child's progress compared with peers, national data and expectations of progress.

Pupil assessment is ongoing and vital in the support and development of our pupils informing practice and provision. Ellington Primary School applies the "Assess Plan, Do and Review" Process for all students with identified concerns or needs. It is important that this process is done hand in hand with the pupil, the pupils' families and other external agents or professionals; the pupil is central to the process.

How do we teach children with SEND?

All children have access to a diverse and exciting curriculum and are treated equally. All children feel safe and secure in an environment that is inclusive and conducive to effective learning. There is equality of access to all curriculum and extra-curricular activities.

We aim to help every individual child enjoy school and access the curriculum by:

- ensuring all children in our school receive quality first teaching, including those with SEND, and using many different strategies to ensure that all children make at least good progress from their starting points
- taking account of individual ability and differentiating learning so that every child progresses in every lesson and achieves their potential
- ensuring that the skills of literacy and numeracy are taught rigorously through:
  - a systematic daily approach to the teaching of phonics using Read, Write Inc. resources and groupings
  - use of structured maths lessons which are based on the National Centre for Excellence in the Teaching of Mathematics and may draw upon resources from maths schemes including White Rose and Abacus
  - use of manipulatives such as Numicon to support children across the school
  - providing pupils with a disability with reasonable adjustments and auxiliary aids e.g. ICT, writing slopes or adapted pencil grips

How do we consult parents/carers and involve them in their child's education?

At Ellington Primary School we recognise that parents know their children best. Parents are always welcome to discuss their child and their views are respected and their concerns are taken into consideration at all stages of the SEN procedure.

Communication with parents include:

- an 'open door' policy allowing quick and easy access to class teachers, Headteacher and SENCO
- learning journals used in the Foundation Stage to record observations which are shared with parents
- home-school diaries are used in years 1-6
- intervention plans are discussed with parents
- termly intervention targets shared with parents of children with SEND
- termly parental consultations with the teacher
- opportunity to meet with the SENCO to review plans at termly parents' evenings
- termly written report to parents with the opportunity to discuss this with both the class teacher and SENCO
- home visits prior to nursery if required
- EHA's are set up to give support to families in need

- requests for assessment for EHCPs are made to the LA if progress is not made in spite of school interventions, in consultation with parents
- Annual review meetings for children with EHCPs.

How are pupils views included in their provision?

Children's views matter to us.

- All children are aware of their termly targets and are encouraged to self-review against these.
- As part of the review process, SEN pupils, are asked their views on their strengths, the areas in which they feel they would like to develop and the support they would like to receive.
- For their annual review, children with EHCPs are asked more formally about their views, their learning, their targets and the support and interventions they are given. Where appropriate, the pupil may attend the review.

How is pupil's progress towards outcomes assessed and reviewed?

When assessing progress towards outcomes, we value the contribution of families, pupils and, where appropriate, specialists working with the pupil.

Systems to assess and review progress include;

- teachers ongoing assessment of learning which is used to plan subsequent lessons
- termly written reports to parents and termly parent consultations with teachers
- termly evaluation of the impact of all interventions used, identifying next steps
- termly updates to SEND pupil passports/SEN Support Plans
- detailed data tracking of progress of SEND pupils by SENCO, assessment co-ordinator and headteacher which includes termly pupil progress meetings
- progress of high needs pupils is tracked using the PIVATS assessment tool
- lesson observations, pupil interviews, work sampling and book scrutiny, including joint moderation with partnership schools

Annual reviews provide a formal review of outcomes for children with EHCPs. Family and pupil views are always considered during this review and all specialists working with the pupil are invited.

What arrangements are there to support children moving between phases of education and in preparing for adulthood?

We understand how difficult it is for children and parents as they move into a new class or a new school and provide support, according to the individual needs of the child, to make transitions into school and between classes and key stages as smooth as possible.

This includes:

- carefully planned process of induction for new nursery starters, including home visits where appropriate.
- Close liaison with Early Years providers and outside agencies with regard to the specific needs of SEND pupils, including those to be admitted
